90 HENDRY 2013 BARREL
FERMENTED CHARDONNAY
NAPA VALLEY

There doesn't appear to be a lot of oak in the 2013 Barrel Fermented Chardonnay from Hendry, but I like what's there—some nice caramelized citrus, medium to full body, good mouth texture and lushness, but great purity and a steely minerality. This is serious Chardonnay that sort of creeps up on the taster as it's in the mouth. Drink it over the next several years.

89 HENDRY 2014 BARREL
FERMENTED CHARDONNAY
NAPA VALLEY

The 2014 Barrel Fermented Chardonnay displays more floweriness. It doesn't have the weight of the 2013, but is equal in quality, with a delicacy of floral character, medium body, and beautifully pure but subtle fruit. Both of these wines show impeccable craftsmanship. Drink the 2014 over the next 2-3 years.
